

6th International
SKIPTON PUPPET FESTIVAL

2nd - 4th October 2015

www.skiptonpuppetfestival.co.uk

Welcome!

With basic materials and bucketloads of imagination, our artists bring forth a mesmerising menagerie of creatures and characters. Come and enjoy a fun-filled and surprising weekend celebrating the art of puppetry.

From fleas to dragons, from cabaret to circus, from Fable to Frankenstein, we have superheroes, misfits, friendships and lost souls. For the little ones, there's Super Monkey, Claytime and a very Worried Walrus.

For adults and older children, watch out for a cantankerous old piece of cardboard, badly behaved border guards, and a problematic goat.

This year's festival features 28 companies from eight countries, 22 ticketed performances, over forty free shows, many walkabouts and several workshops, not forgetting the fantastic and spectacular Puppet Parade on the Sunday.

Oooh aaah!
That's the way to do it!

Claytime

"Claytime" is a play with clay!

Dirty hands, clay and lots of fun! This is a sharing show where the audience makes it up as we go along!

Each "Claytime" is unique, creating its own world, its own characters and its own stories drawn directly from its young audience, all modelled out of a mound of clay by the performers.

The piece ends with a short on-stage workshop to give children their own clay time.

Small Fables

Inspired by the well known fables of La Fontaine and Aesop, this performance brings those naughty and lovable creatures magically to life with music and special sound effects! From a fast-footed camel to a mischievous dog to a hungry singing rabbit, each creature has a story to tell and a moral to teach.

Watch with amazement as two hands transform into swans in love, a bear dancing the blues, and crabs, fish and sea-snails scampering, swimming and sliding in a jam jar sea.

Aladdin & The Magic Lamp, the best known tale of the Arabian Nights, is retold here not by the most beautiful Princess Sheherazade, but by the one who knows the story best... The Genie of the lamp!

This Genie is not a weak slave who does as he is told. No, he is a match maker, a fortune maker and a shaper of the destinies of heroes.

This award winning magical performance by Dimitar Todorov has toured to many international festivals. We are delighted to present the UK premiere here in Skipton.

The Table

Moses is a cantankerous 3 man operated puppet with a cardboard head... who lives on a table. Tonight he wants to tell you an epic story about God and Moses, life and death, and puppetry... on a table. But he gets easily distracted.

Like a cross between Tommy Cooper and Eddie Izzard, this table-top philosopher and comedian is the funniest piece of cardboard you will ever meet.
